

CUL Recruitment Information for Hiring Managers, Search Committees and Chairs

Many of the processes contained in this document were implemented as a result of the recommendations found in the Report of Task Force on Best Practices in the Recruitment and Hiring of Academics. This document summarizes the CUL recruitment process, but is subject to modifications if warranted. A Library Human Resources (LHR) recruiter will meet with each search committee to provide more in-depth guidance and instruction related to the summary below.

The search process may begin after a position justification form has been submitted and formal approval to post the vacancy has been obtained.

BEFORE POSTING

The hiring manager will identify search committee members with input from LHR:

- Members should be able to adequately represent the interests of those with a stake in the outcome
- The supervisor/hiring manager may or may not be part of the search committee
- Members may be academic or non-academic (including hourly)
- Three to five members are recommended; four members are considered optimal
- At least one member should be from another campus library or unit
- At least one member – especially the committee chair - should have prior CUL search committee experience
- Avoid asking someone to be a member who might be a potential candidate
- A search committee member may recuse themselves for any reason, including if a current employee who reports to them applies

Schedule a meeting with the entire search committee and your LHR recruiter. Discussion will focus on:

- Recruitment support and search expectations
- Setting an approximate timeline for the search
- Discuss asking for candidates to submit a Diversity Statement
- The staff position description (SPD) language and the position announcement
 - Confirm the working title accurately represents the job
 - Carefully consider required and preferred qualifications; these are used to measure/evaluate candidates
 - Carefully consider language to avoid inadvertent bias
 - If appropriate, include language if the position is less than full-time or if it is a term appointment
 - Consult with LHR to confirm the salary range, which will be included in academic postings whenever possible

- Inform LHR if any outreach/announcements will be done by search committee members

Members of the Academic Assembly Steering Committee may not be nominated to serve on a search committee.
- Discuss potential start dates with your LHR recruiter before making the offer to the candidate
