eBird v1.0 API Shut Down

The eBird v1.0 API, which has been deprecated since January 2010, has now been shut down. We left that version of the API up as long as possible, but a move to new application servers requires a definite shut down at this time.

At this point all applications and gadgets should be using the eBird v1.1 API instead. Please contact clois-api@cornell.edu if you have questions.