

NuPRL site updates

Another quiet day and a productive one.

Updates were made today to the following pages:

- System
- People
- Other Groups
- Projects

I'm beginning to play around with a general format for headers that includes the PRL logo and search form. I hope to hear from CFS soon on using scripts to load headers & footers into the pages. The current server settings do not allow php or server scripts from files with html extensions.

Google analytics is setup on each of the updated pages as well as the home page and CRASH pages. The first report should be available early September.

Jim