

Static Web Hosting

If you have a web site that does not require back-end programming languages like ColdFusion or PHP, then static web hosting might be best suited for your needs. A static site uses only HTML to serve its pages, so you can use CSS, JavaScript, and server-side includes, but there are no provisions for CGI or other programming options.

- An Introduction To Your Static Hosting Space
- Idstatic June 22, 2014 Outage
- Static Web Hosting 2012 Changes
- Static Web Hosting - Architecture
- Tools for creating a Static Web Hosting site