

September 2007

September 2007

Q. How do I go about borrowing a copy of a Cornell University thesis?

A. The library keeps two copies of all the theses published by CU students. You can locate theses by searching the library catalog by the author or title. One copy can be checked out for the regular loan period from the library; a second copy is held in the archives and does not circulate. Additional information about finding theses and dissertations can be found here: <http://astech.library.cornell.edu/ast/engr/find/Theses-and-Dissertations.cfm>.