New moderation interface coming soon

We just conducted a round of usability testing on a new interface for arXiv's volunteer moderators. Given that they're distributed all over the globe, this presented an interesting challenge. If you're interested, you can read more about our process. We expect the new interface to go live (in beta) in June.