

Metadata Working Group 2017-2018

Find here a list of Metadata Working Group dates for the 2017-2018 year for planning purposes.

This year, we're keeping the approach we started last year. This means workshops, working sessions, and we hope, deliverables from the Metadata Working Group in this academic year. So many of these meetings will be used for workshops or working session style events.

We'll start the year with a lightening session of the tools people are using to work with their metadata across CUL. We will then send out a questionnaire about the tools people are most interested in learning for the coming year and plan working sessions for the tools with the most popular rankings

We are going to try to keep to the schedule of the 3rd Friday of every month, but due to the nature of the workshops dates, times, and locations may vary.
