EndNote

EndNote licensing is expensive and options are varied and not straightforward. This page attempts to untangle their costs and trade-offs related to the different buying and upgrading options.

Table of contents

- · There are alternatives to EndNote
- EndNote can be expensive for groups
  - EndNote is licensed per user NOT by computer
  - o Upgrades
  - Snapshot of cost and purchase and upgrade options
    - Bottom line
      - Buying tips
    - Updated data-points from March 2017
      - $249.95 (faculty/ staff), physical only
      - $124.95 (student), physical only
    - Volume discounts don't seem a good choice for research groups
    - Older price point of Version X7, 10/2015
      - $219.95 (faculty/ staff), physical only.
      - $119.95 (student), physical only.

There are alternatives to EndNote

See Cornell Library page for

- Comparison to alternatives. (Does this info still exists, but is no longer accessible? 5/7/2018)
- The Library's main page on this topic is http://www.library.cornell.edu/resrch/citmanage.

EndNote can be expensive for groups

EndNote is licensed per user NOT by computer

License agreement statement, as of 5/8/2018:

- https://endnote.com/license
  - If End User is using a desktop version of EndNote, the End User may install one copy of the Software on up to three computers for End User's personal use [...].
  - o It is expressly understood that the Software program will only be in use by End User on one computer at any given time.

Upgrades

Same-version updates are free. Jumping up a full version requires paying for the upgrade. The last time it was over 3 years between upgrades:

- https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/EndNote#Version_history_and_compatibility
  - EndNote X8 for Windows & Mac, released 8 November 2016.
  - EndNote X7 for Mac, released July 2013.
  - EndNote X7 for Windows, released 20 May 2013; Compatible with Microsoft Word 2013.

Retail version upgrades at Campus Store is $109.95 for physical.

Retail download-only is $99.95. And physical, shipped is $109.95 (but then add shipping?).

Odd: "Academic" upgrade (Students/Faculty/Staff) is $108.95, so costs more?! http://endnote.com/buy or  or <a href="http://

Note: You must have a fully licensed previous version of EndNote installed on your computer to qualify for the upgrade product.

Note: You'll need your serial number from X6 (or earlier) to activate.

Snapshot of cost and purchase and upgrade options

Bottom line

The consistently cheapest method to buy EndNote is via download, buying direct. It is $11 cheaper for students and $30 cheaper for faculty/ staff. The download-only method is available from EndNote's academic reseller, "OnTheHub eStore", which you can get to from:

http://endnote.com/buy

The most convenient method to buy EndNote is via the Campus Store. And if you want physical media, it's the same price as buying direct.

https://store.cornell.edu/c-569-other.aspx

Buying tips

- Don't buy if you can instead upgrade an existing version.
- Don't buy for the same user wanting a license on up to three computers.
- Always buy via academic discount pricing since always cheaper than retail pricing. (Unlike for some EndNote upgrades, alas.)
- The difference between the more expensive Staff and faculty version vs the cheaper student licensing is simply who is paying for the software.
  - For example, you can't use a departmental account or a PCard to buy student licenses. Instead, the student is expected to pay (with a personal credit card, say).

Updated data-points from March 2017

https://store.cornell.edu/c-569-other.aspx

$249.95 (faculty/ staff), physical only

- $50 cheaper than physical-product price of retail, and price equals download-only retail price, :">http://endnote.com/buy>:
  - Full-price retail of $249.95 download ($299.95 shipped (physical)).
- $30 more expensive than download academic price of $219.95, ">
  - https://estore.onthehub.com/WebStore/OfferingDetails.aspx?o=34f1a748-dba1-e611-9422-b8ca3a5db7a1

$124.95 (student), physical only

$11 more expensive than download student price of $113.95, :">http://endnote.com/buy>:

o https://estore.onthehub.com/WebStore/OfferingDetails.aspx?o=34f1a748-dba1-e611-9422-b8ca3a5db7a1

Volume discounts don't seem a good choice for research groups

ChemIT attempted to bulk-license for a group in summer 2015 and price quoted was not cheaper than buying boxes at the Campus Store. The cheapest way used to be via Campus Store (physical, only), but now it's via download-only.

March 2017: Overheard Aye group bought licenses for group members for about $800 total. Q: Cost-effective? Easier?

Older price point of Version X7, 10/2015

All offerings seem to be multi-platform (Windows / Mac) and perpetual (of same version; not free version upgrades).

http://store.cornell.edu/p-185246-endnote-x7-faculty-and-staff-windows-macintosh.aspx

$219.95 (faculty/ staff), physical only.

- Versus faculty/ academic staff retail $219.95., http://endnote.com/buy.
- Versus full-price retail of $249.95 ($299.95 shipped (physical)).

$119.95 (student), physical only.

• Versus $113.95 student retail (download only, though), http://endnote.com/buy>.