Versant Ventures

Beckie Robertson is a managing director specializing in early-stage investing in medical devices at Versant Ventures. Before co-founding Versant, Robertson was a general partner at Institutional Venture Partners. In addition, through Longridge Business Advisors, she provides business advisory and board services for companies outside of her role at Versant. From 1994-1996, Robertson served as senior vice president at Chiron Diagnostic where she had responsibility for the $200 million critical care business unit. Prior to joining Chiron, she was a co-founder and vice president at Egis and held senior management positions in operations and finance at Lifescan, a Johnson & Johnson Company. Robertson also serves as chairman of the Children's Health Council and is a member of Cornell's Biomedical Engineering Advisory Board and Engineering College Council and was recently elected to Cornell's Board of Trustees. She also serves as a senior executive-in-residence for Cornell's McGovern Center. Robertson holds a B.S. in chemical engineering from Cornell University.
